STAGE LOVE AFFAIR BARED BY BELASCO

New York—A love affair between Mary Anderson, famous actress, and Franklin H. Sedgwick, president of the American Academy of Dramatic Art, who committed suicide at Palm Beach, Wednesday, was disclosed today by David Belasco, Mr. Sedgwick's intimate friend.

"Years ago," Mr. Belasco said, "Sedgwick had a love affair that saddened his entire life. He loved Mary Anderson, who had since married and lived in London in retirement from the stage. Sedgwick adored her. He taught her how to act. He was engaged to marry for a long time. There was a sudden end to the love affair and I think they never saw each other again. Since then Sedgwick had been a changed man. He was no longer a womanizer and became noted among his friends as a woman hater."

Artist's Wife, in Jealous Rage, Slashes Canvases to Ribbons

Suzanne Suden and her husband, Rudolph.

New York—It is the eternal prerogative of equally eternal femininity to change her mind.

Perhaps that is why petite Suzanne Suden, a vivacious bundle of French temperament, is lying in Bellevue hospital hoping, and praying, that she will spare her life—the life she tried to take by poison.

And maintaining a vigil by her bedside is her husband, Rudolph Suden, German artist.

The Sudens had been regarded as the happiest couple in the Greenwich Village Latin quarter.

But the "green-eyed monster" had found a place in Suzanne's temperament. He often labored on his canvases day into the night and in the solitude of these still hours Suzanne brooded over the thought that her husband's love had been won from her and that his painings of nude women were the lure that kept him from her.

Suddenly a jealous frenzy seized her and she seized a carving knife. She slashed the canvases of his work. She explained. He administered an antidote, then hurried her to Bellevue.

She was a happy little wife when she regained consciousness, was told that she would live, and heard the promise of Rudolph that hereafter he would not give so much time to his canvases.

MINERS FRIENDLY ON PINCHOT PLAN OPERATORS FROWN

WAGE BOOST, 8-HOUR DAY PART OF GOVERNOR'S PROPOSAL.

REPLY ON FRIDAY

10 Percent Flat Increase and Union Recognition Asked by Mediator.

Harrisburg, Pa.—An agreement was reached today between the operators and the officials of the miners' union under which union men employed as pump men, engineers and maintenance men will be allowed to stay at work after September 1, even if suspension of mining is ordered, becomes effective. The new agreement is intended to prevent the mines from flooding and caving in during periods of idleness.

By the terms of the agreement, men in the maintenance service, now working 12 hours per day, will receive a wage adjustment of 25 cents per day less for working 10 hours than they now receive for working 12, and will be paid overtime rates if they exceed eight hours in service. Men on night and 10 hour shifts will work the same hours they now put in, but will receive a wage increase, estimated to be $1.15 per day for those now receiving the lowest rates, with greater amounts proportionately for those employed at higher wage rates. In addition annual wage increases in wages granted will be made retroactive to Sept. 1, for the benefit of all maintenance workers who are held in service.

INDIANA GOVERNOR 'BROKE' CALLS FOR CREDITOR MEETING

Indianapolis—Governor Warren T. McCray Thursday called a meeting of his creditors to be held here Friday afternoon. The governor's action confirmed reports that recently have become widespread to the effect that the governor was financially embarrassed.

The governor, it is understood, will ask his creditors to enter an agreement whereby he will be given time to retrieve his fortunes. Pinching of his assets in the hands of a trustee, who will operate them for the benefit of his creditors, is contemplated as a part of the agreement.

Friends of the governor declare his financial embarrassment has been brought about by the lowering prices of farm lands and the low cattle market. Given time he will be able to avoid the losses which now confront him, they declare.

The governor declared his resignation as president of the Kankakee bank has been in the hands of the directors for some time. He said that it was first presented following his inauguration as governor in 1921, but that he retained his connection with the institution.

M. E. CHURCH BISHOP ASKS AREA CHANGE

La Crosse—Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell of St. Paul, presiding at the opening session of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, addressing the conference, declared prohibition is a church fight, and that "we the clergy in every way are getting better and better."

"Strange things have happened in the Wisconsin legislature," he said, "and I am satisfied the legislature does not represent the people. It is our business to see that it does. The responsibility is on the individual and the pastors are coming to the postmark of Mr. Thaw's Pittsburgh banker."

Although county authorities were not available here today to tell how they arrived at the figure of $5,000,000, which they gave as the value of Dr. Kahle's estate, it is believed they were impressed by orders which came from a Boston undertaker to provide burial for Dr. Kahle.

In his visits to this community, Dr. Kahle's dignity and bearing contributed toward a community legend that he was a man of wealth, a legend which has foundation only in the wealth which the mysterious 12 keys may release.

Burial in Athens Precluded by Banishment of Royal Husband.

London—The family of the late Princess Anastasia of Greece, formerly Mrs. William D. Leeds, who died Wednesday night, was making plans today to send the body to New York. Some of the members of the Greek royal family favored burial in Athens, but it was held that the present political situation there, which has already resulted in the exile of Greek royalty, including Prince Christopher, Anastasia's husband, would preclude this step.

Moreover, the princess herself, before she died, expressed the wish that she might rest with her father and mother in the mausoleum which she built in Woodlawn cemetery, New York.

Memorial services will be held in one of the Greek Orthodox churches in London before the body is sent to the United States, and prayers will be offered in the churches of Greece.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy from relatives and friends in all parts of the world, especially the United States, were received by Prince Christopher today. Almost every royal house in Europe tendered its condolences.

It is thought by friends that the princess left an ample sum to enable her bereaved husband to live comfortably.

MASONS IN SERVICE AT REVOLUTIONARY WAR HERO'S GRAVE

Oregon—Masons of southern Wisconsin gathered here Thursday for one of the most unusual memorial services ever held.

It was to do honor to the memory of Nathaniel Ames, whose body lies at rest in the region cemetery since his death, 60 years ago, that the Masons gathered here under the auspices of Union Lodge No. 32, Evansville, of which Mr. Ames was a member.

Mr. Ames was a Revolutionary war veteran and, after the war, served three years before the mast, being washed aboard once and rescued. BADGER HOLSTEINS

DEFEAT INVADERS

Carnation Farms Herd Hits Snag; Rock Still Leads in Sweepstakes.

Wisconsin Holsteins proved their quality in the state fair show ring Wednesday, for the invading Carnation herd from Washington struck a snag. Rock county took a reef from their banners in putting the third championship on the age bull and the southern Wisconsin counties ran them a race on the cow classes. Jefferson county had a decided edge when it came to showing cows, with Walworth and Waukesha counties coming close behind. Rock county Holsteins went through the race in a most creditable manner, considering the competition, for in every class the county herd entries were in the money or in the "select group." Not a Rock county Holstein failed to "go to the top" during the entire Holstein judging event.

Rock continued to lead in the county sweepstakes contest Thursday morning, as the Holstein herd from Waukesha county went to the top in the money or in the "select group." Not a Rock county Holstein failed to "go to the top" during the entire Holstein judging event.

Rock continued to lead in the county sweepstakes contest Thursday morning, as the Holstein herd from Waukesha county went to the top in the money or in the "select group." Not a Rock county Holstein failed to "go to the top" during the entire Holstein judging event.

Guernsey Thursday
Guernsey breeders from southern Wisconsin were on hand strong for the judging and there was high excitement over the age bull class. Two of the Rock county Guernsey bulls are expected to place high in their classes.

In the junior club awards, the Rock county boys and girls continued to win. Bernice Danks placing third in Berkshires, Walter Barnes third in Hampshire, Russell Glynn, fourth in Durocs, Alice Clarke, fourth in Chester-Whites, and Joe Goldsworthy placing on his Poland-China gilt. The county scored second on the best calf club exhibit and third on dairy calf herd.

The Holstein bull championships were decided Wednesday morning. Rock scoring premier honors on Walcotts Ollie Hylard, senior and grand champion. Junior championship was awarded to Fred Wilfongbach, Waukesha county, on a senior yearling entry. Judge Stevens left no doubt about the grand championship awards, declaring the "select group" he "in perfect show condition" and "one of the best show bulls of the breed."

In the age cow, the Carnation herd took the blue in the famous Tillamook Dairy Butter King Debel, an outstanding cow valued at $25,000. The two Rock county entries were down the line when the judging closed outside the eight prices. There were 40 cows in the class and to "get locked at" was a decided credit. Rock had no entries in the next two classes.

McDonald Takes Blue
J. D. McDonald took the blue in the four year old class, William Krout, second, and Carnation, third, two Wisconsin cows topping the class. In the three year old class, Charity Canary Denver, owned by the Jefferson county asylum herd, placed third, and another cow from the same herd went fifth. Carnation took first on Matador Starlight, and a Walworth county entry, Walcotts Ollie Louise, from the Dickinson herd, went second. In the two years old class, the Jefferson county farm herd took first on Madam Artis Wayne Denver, a wonderful dairy cow that later was senior and grand champion. Jefferson also took second place on a county farm entry. The Rock county entry from the John Goldthorpe herd placed seventh, with 24 in the ring.

In the senior yearling class, the Rock county farm herd placed sixth, the blue ribbon going to Jefferson county, second to Carnation, with a third to Jefferson, and fourth to Baldu Brothers, Waukesha. Fifth went to the Milwaukee County agricultural school.

On junior yearling, the Rock county farm entry scored a third, with Carnation first, Baldu Brothers, second, and a helper from the George Pope herd, Walworth county, went sixth, and it was a large class.

There were 67 senior helper calves in the ring and the Baldu Brothers twins were in the money, one winning seventh and the other twelfth.

Group Classes
Fred Gahr, Jefferson county, placed second in this class, with Henry Anthes, the blue ribbon winner.

On junior calves it was almost a hopeless task to attempt to pick the winners. The ring was full of full of black and white youngsters. After an assortment, three calves from Rock county were in the money, A. G. Muesel placing third, a good yearling, a club boy, tenth, and John Goldthorpe, twelfth.

In the group classes, Carnation took first prize age herd, Jefferson county, second. On young herd Jefferson won the blue ribbon, and on calf herd, Jefferson went first on a county farm entry and second on a herd shown by the Rock county farm herd. Carnation scored first in the get-of-sire, with Jefferson second and third. On produce of cow, the only group class Rock county entered, the twin helpers from the Funk farm scored third, with Carnation taking first and Jefferson second.

COOLIDGE CHECKS

1924 SPECULATION

Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington — President Coolidge would like to have "political speculation" labeled so far as he is concerned. This information divulged in the last 24 hours was not specifically related to the many utterances of men in the administration itself, who have been publicly booming Mr. Coolidge for the 1924 presidential nomination, but the inference being drawn is that Mr. Coolidge would not like it just as well if he were not made the center of political discussion at the moment. He feels there is time enough for that later on.

Nothing of course has come from the white house to indicate that Mr. Coolidge is averse to winning the nomination. But there are embarrassments to the presidential job of 10 months before the national convention the chief executive is even passively a candidate, especially while his own appointees issue public statements predicting his active candidacy.

Mr. Coolidge has in all probability been advised that the best politics he could possibly play with reference to 1924 is to play no politics at all. Since he has taken the oath of office there has been no concrete evidence that he is playing the political game. Many of the federal officeholders, however, have declared themselves for Coolidge and the organization of Coolidge for president has been proceeding just as if the man in the white house had given his consent.

Congress in Weathervane
The word direct from the administration, therefore, that the president would like to be spared political speculation is as much a bit of advice to the press as it is to the well-intentioned friends who have been extolling the virtues of the president. Old political observers are rather amused by the spectacle of federal appointees rushing to the band wagon of the incumbent, especially when the latter hasn't been in the white house long enough to demonstrate whether he is the best candidate the party can offer.

The coming session of congress will answer the whole business, particularly when it is seen whether the executive can exercise any influence with a legislative body in which the balance of power is held by the so-called radical ring of the republican party.

Mr. Coolidge has taken occasion to intimate what his policy toward congress will be. He will hesitate to express an opinion about a bill while it is pending. He will not threaten a veto or promise his approval to anything if he can help it, preferring to permit him to exercise his constitutional prerogative of signing or vetoing at the proper time. The theory of the executive precedes the theory of the moral sanction of Wilson. It means a free hand to the executive till the bill actually reaches him. While this method is unquestionably the most desirable that could be followed, it doesn't always work out that an executive can remain silent in the face of inquiries from members of congress as to what his attitude would be toward a bill if passed. Many measures are sidetracked at the slightest gesture of executive disapproval and time is saved that way.

Rock County Wins
Third of Ribbons
on Chester Whites
Rock county's supremacy in agricultural and cattle lines is supported by the facts.

The published list of awards for premiums on Chester White swine at the Wisconsin State Fair show that of 130 ribbons, 53 were taken by Rock county exhibitors—almost one-third of the total.

This was by virtue of the ribbons taken by the following exhibitors: Fred Rehfeld, Janesville; E. H. Babcock, William F. Butts and Butte and Babcock, Evansville.

Walter Blessecker, Delavan, and William Brewer, also upheld the reputation of Southern Wisconsin in the Chester white division.

DEATH FROM SHOT

With a bullet lodged in his spine, Percy Clark, 19, Beloit, has little chance to recover from the wound inflicted by Boyd Clark, 17, a friend, with a gun which the latter believed was not loaded. Clark is in the Beloit Emergency hospital.

The Beloit youth was shot Tuesday night while standing on the corner of Grand avenue and Fourth street. Clark said he pulled the gun from his pocket to show the boys with whom they were talking and the weapon in some unaccountable manner was discharged. He didn't know the gun, which he had used for target shooting earlier in the afternoon, was loaded. Boyd carried the wounded boy into a store and called a physician, who ordered him taken to the hospital.

Clark's intestines were punctured in eight places and the bullet lodged in the spine. He is conscious but hospital authorities hold little hope for his recovery.

Sharp divergence of opinion on the governor's proposal early cropped out between the contending representatives. The offer of a 10 percent flat increase for the anthracite workers of the universal eight hour day, of the right to have a union agent in the company offices for collection of dues, which the governor made, along with the tender of recognition of the principle of collective bargaining, won a more than friendly reception from the union contingent.

Operators Are Hostile. There was a growing impression that Mr. Lewis would recommend and his associates would accept of the proposal, and call in the order for a suspension of work Sept. 1, if the operators consented.

But with the operators, the settlement basis suggested encountered almost open hostility. Their consistent stand for arbitration of all outstanding issues was almost completely neglected, and there was a disposition to consider that the proposal had not adequately measured the coal price increase, which would result from the wage increase awarded. Governor Pinchot estimated this would amount to 80 cents a ton, of which the operators could absorb 10 cents in lessened profits.

Must Answer Friday. Mine owners themselves calculated that establishing a universal eight hour day would add almost 5 cents to costs. Further, they contended that all of the increase would have to be loaded on the domestic fuel, the stream side production of anthracite being incapable of bearing it in market competition with bituminous.

Both sides have until Friday noon to give their answers. An unsuccessful eleven hour attempt was made by the operators and miners officials to fix a basis for the employment of pump men, engineers and maintenance men to be kept at work in case of flooding and caving in. Union officials demanded an eight hour day for these men and, while consenting to the proposed eight hour day, on a point of the wage adjustment to be made.

Wishing for sleep is a poor way to get it.

LABOR DAY WORD GIVEN BY BLAINE

Madison—Governor Blaine Thursday issued a proclamation urging that the people of Wisconsin observe Labor Day, September 3, as a holiday. Following is the proclamation in full:

"In this land of freedom, labor has achieved a dignity never before accorded it in the history of the world. Labor was synonymous with slavery in ancient times; but we have recognized its economic and moral value, and we have made it an honored custom in the United States to set aside one day in each year in commemoration of labor."

Our state provides that the first Monday in September shall be observed as a legal holiday to be known as Labor Day. On that day all work ceases, all offices are closed and the people leave their labors to seek rest and recreation. On that day all pay tribute to labor, giving it the recognition due it as the corner stone on which is built the happiness and prosperity of this country."

"We Americans love to honor those who have earned our sincere respect, the producers of wealth rather than the consumers of wealth. Working men in Wisconsin are wisely protected in their right to organize for the betterment of their own conditions. Such organizations may use all lawful means to gain their ends. The laws of the state incorporate many of the things for which labor organization stand."

"This state has been remarkably free from disturbance, and has weathered periods of depression far better than any other state."

"Because this policy has proved its worth, and in accordance with the statutes."

More New Books.

Are Bought for Public Library

Still more new books have been added to library shelves in the last few days among them some engaging fiction. These are MacKenzie's "Altar Steps" and Maxwell's "Spinner of This Farish," both of which have created much comment among fiction readers. "The Mystery Road," said to be on a par with his previous production, "The Seven Conundrums," "Laughter Limited," "Putnam," "Society," "The Mystery Room," by Smith, another mystery; and "The Amazing Inheritance," by Sterrett.

But it is among the non-fiction that there are the notable books at present. Included are:

"Three Plays," by Milne, a book giving the entirety of "The Dover Road," "The Truth About Blayds" and "The Great Boxtop," the first two great successes on New York and Chicago stages last season.

"Confessions of a Book Lover," by Maurice Maeterlinck, a series of essays on masterpieces and their charms, and also of the greater charms of those really good books that are but little known.

"Companionable Books," by Dr. Henry Van Dyke, on much the same order, in which this prominent man of letters discusses books and authors, among the interesting ones, "Shakespeare's Macbeth," "Zoroaster," Browning, George Eliot, Emerson, Stevenson, Dr. Johnson, and Isaac Walton.

"Letting a Radio Engineer to His Work," telling interesting radio facts in an interesting manner.

"The Holy Land and Syria," by Frank G. Carpenter, noted traveler, features and author of "When the West Was Young," another travel book, by Frederick R. Bechold. "The New Argentina," by W. H. Koebel, travel evidently, but treating more the economic and political life of the country. Hiram Bingham, author of other South American travel books.

"The Training School of Popularity," a good etiquette book, giving valuable hints through the medium of engaging personal letters.

"The Real South America," by Charles Domville-Rife, late correspondent of "The Times" in South America and with 55 illustrations and four maps aiding the reader.

The School Girl Finds a Way to Have Smart Clothes---and Save on Her Dress Allowance

McCall Printed Patterns: 3220, 3263, 3176, 3217

Every girl can go away to school with the pretty, smart clothes that mean so much—and yet save on them. She may save a good part of her allowance for other things, for the “extras” that make school days more enjoyable.

It's simple, too. She can plan her clothes from the new Fall Quarterly and carry out the styles that she selects with the new Printed Pattern.

The accurate printed lines of this pattern guide her scissors so that the dress has stylish cut. It is this printed exactness, this printed accuracy that makes the clothes made with the McCall Printed Pattern so smart.

The styles illustrated are suitable for a schoolgirl's “going-away” wardrobe.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

Information just received by the writer from the University of Wisconsin is to the effect that Merrill E. Tapp of Whitefish Bay has been selected to play on the year's Badger football team. That is good news to the student body, alumni and fans in general. Tapp's toe is a mighty valuable asset to the Badgers. The list of eligible men shows nine state dwellers, entering the "W." 21 reserves and 10 freshmen. Without a doubt, there will be a large number of others who will enter the call of Coach Jack Ryan on Sept. 15.

HERE are the eligibles: "W." men—Tapp, Whitefish; Below, Oshkosh; captain, Biebert, Phillips; Irish, Madison; Hsieh, Racine; Miller, Kenosha; Nichols, Potosi; Milwaukee. Reserves—Beaton, Kenosha; Diebold, Madison; Bagelburger, Stevens Point; Rabera, Manitowish; Gerber, Milwaukee; Green, Bay; Morris, Washburn; Munkwitz, Milwaukee; Noite, Watonsau; Opitz, Elkhorn; Radke, Owen; Elsten, Chippewa; Dallas, Appleton; Smead, McFarland; Milton, F. Stangel, Manitowish; Frohman—Thane M. Blackman, Jr., Whitefish; Goodlad, Madison; Moore, Milwaukee; Rouland, Reedsburg; Nelson, Superior.

ANNOUNCEMENT that Colonel Driver has quit the army life and will hereafter devote his time to coaching and selling good news of the change that has occurred at Madison. Driver has in the past assisted in drilling the freshmen. Starting this September, he will be starting at this time to predict that Wisconsin will not be lower than third in the race and it is a good guess that they will be higher than that.

Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, medalist, lost in western women's golf meet, while Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt, Dallas, sets course record with 42-41-83.

Outmet and Guilford enter national amateur golf meet at Boston.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Swim Entrants Now 45; Steinauer Will Judge

With the receipt Thursday of two more entrants from Racine, the total of individuals who will take part in the second annual Wisconsin state swim carnival, to be held here on Labor Day morning, has been swelled to 45. The total of event entries is now 94.

Racine now has four men entered in the big splash. The new entrants are Carl Johnson, who will be seen in the senior 100-yard dash and the 100-yard breast stroke.

Charles Driver has been entered in the mile to represent the Belle city.

Liston Semmes, of Racine, state mile swimming champion, will also be seen in the 100-yard dash. His blank for this event was received Thursday.

Semmes took part in the Milwaukee county meet at Milwaukee last Saturday, but did not finish in the mile because of heavy seas.

By a misunderstanding, he got a bad start and went off the course. Harold E. Mangan, another Racine entrant who had previously entered the mile, will also appear in the 100-yard dash for seniors.

Small Admission Charge. A small admission charge, to be used to defray expenses, will be made for spectators, it was announced Thursday by J. B. Bergman, physical director of the local J. B. A., in charge of arrangements. The meet will be held at Goose Island, making it possible to see the event from several points on either side of the river.

The best place to see the finishes will be at Mineral Point avenue and Olive street, on the banks. This will give a perfect view of the straightaway.

The dock at Goose Island was strengthened Wednesday. Planks are to be erected along the shore at the island for spectators.

Joe Steinauer, swimming coach of the University of Wisconsin, will judge the living events. It was announced Thursday that he will be remembered as the referee of many of the boxing bouts held here in recent years.

Few more offers of boats and launches have been made, but still more are needed. The launches of Claire Capella, Ira Worlandy, Judge Charles L. Fifield and Ed. Kohler have been promised.

Big Sports List for Elkhorn Fair; Horses, Baseball

Elkhorn.—Final preparations are now being made for the big Elkhorn fair to be held starting next Monday.

Baseball games will be held at the fair. The largest entry list in the history of the local meeting and bigger than any in the middle west this season will be ready for the wire.

Record breakers and near record breakers will perform. Horses that have been good on all central west tracks will be on hand.

An extraordinarily heavy baseball program has been arranged. The Bradley Knit Weavers of Delavan will start at 10 o'clock.

Sharon's cork organization for a purse of $175, split 60-40.

In the baseball tournament, efforts are being made to get the teams to hold themselves down to players that have been with clubs this season.

The first few contests in which Lathrop pitched for the local team seemed to instill the confidence which had previously been lacking.

When the fact is considered that most of the players in all of these games are local talent, the results are the more remarkable and show what concerted effort will do.
